

When your soon-to-be ex-employee is about to take your confidential company data with him

The biggest risk to your company's data security could be your employees – past and present. It's not always malicious actions. Oftentimes, it's just bad habits.

ON THE JOB

97% of employees have access to some form of sensitive or confidential information.

93% of employees admit to engaging in at least one form of poor data security.

68% admitted to storing work files in personal cloud storage services.

WHEN THEY LEAVE

88% retain access to the file sharing services they used at their old job.

45% could still access what they consider "confidential" or "highly confidential" data.

Almost 50% admit that they have logged in to their ex-employers' systems.

Always be prepared, maintain control over data and never lose another file with SecuriSync. View tip sheet >
